

EUROPEAN CENTRAL BANK

EUROSYSTEM

List of examples of relevant fields of study for the ECB Scholarship for Women

- Economics (international economics, econometrics and mathematical economics, economics for development, environmental economics)
- Statistics
- Engineering (facility management, electrical engineering, mechanical engineering, architecture, civil engineering, heating, ventilation, air-conditioning and sanitary (HVACS) engineering, property management, safety engineering, security engineering, logistics, electronic engineering, etc.)
- Computing (information and communication technologies, computer science, information systems, information and communication management, business informatics, information security, etc.)